Corporate Overview

Poarch Creek Indians Federal Services (PCIFS) was formed by the Poarch Band of Creek Indians to support Federal customers. PCIFS is a super 8(a) enterprise and our companies bring more than 25 years of industry-leading expertise in a wide variety of markets. PCIFS provides the common connection and integration that enables our collective success.

The Poarch Band of Creek Indians have a variety of economic enterprises operating under its management structure. Together, these companies employ thousands of people throughout the country.

The PCIFS portfolio of companies is proud of its connection to the only federally recognized tribe in the state of Alabama and shares the Tribe's values which guide all decisions.

Corporate Overview

As a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization, Hui Huliau operates on tax-deductible donations and profits earned from for-profit companies owned by Hui Huliau to generate revenues that sustain community enrichment programs. The Hui Huliau ohana (family) of companies works in harmony to support a common mission and to deliver the highest levels of service possible to all stakeholders. This includes providing rapid, reliable responses to our external customers, our internal customers, as well as our donors and benefactors. Our team has decades of experience in their respective fields and applies that expertise to every project we undertake.

At the heart of our work is the knowledge that Hui Huliau offers an under served population of Native Hawaiian keiki (youth), kupuna (elders), and koa kahiko (veterans) opportunities for education and the tools to create a successful life. We also support efforts to preserve the Native Hawaiian language and traditional culture for current and future generations to enjoy.

NACO

What is a NACO?

A NACO is the creation of a new, Native American company that is wholly owned by tribal parent companies. This enables the NACO to offer the full suite of resources directly from the parent capability portfolio. The NACO serves as a single entry point to a broad suite of services in a convenient and unencumbered pathway.

NACO Benefits

- Offers the benefits of Joint Ventures without the inherent limitation.
- Broad capability portfolio and best practices of a wide field of expertise and experience.
- Provides convenient and efficient contracting methodology saving time and resources.
- Profits generated flow back to the indigenous people the NACO serves.
